

REPUBLICANS OF BUCKS COUNTY FIRE OPENING GUN IN CAMPAIGN TO RE-ELECT HERBERT HOOVER PRESIDENT OF THE U. S.

Officers of Committee Elected When Nearly 400 Republican Men and Women From All Districts Convene at Doylestown — Speakers Urge for Energetic Drive

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 26.—The opening gun in the campaign of the Republicans of Bucks County to re-elect Herbert Hoover was fired here Saturday afternoon. Nearly 400 Republican men and women from the various election districts of the county convened in annual session.

Officers of the committee were elected and following a luncheon numerous speakers explained the issues of the campaign and urged the workers to prosecute an energetic drive so that the Republican ticket would carry Bucks by a big majority.

Senator Shontz of Lehigh County which is now aligned with Bucks County in the same congressional district, brought greetings from Lehigh and the Hon. Shontz, addressing the group, expressed his keen pleasure at being in attendance.

The two candidates for the assembly, Hon. W. Albertson Haines and Wilson L. Yeakey were presented and spoke briefly. Both thanked the party workers for their support and expressed their appreciation for the honors conferred in again being nominated by the Republican voters.

Speeches were made by the Hon. Charles A. Waters, Republican candidate for State Treasurer; Hon. Henry W. Watson, candidate for congress; Mrs. Elizabeth DeGroot, president of Lehigh County Council of Republican Women, Allentown.

"President Hoover in the last three years has gone through fire and has come through with more courage than ever, so let us give him a greater majority than he had in 1928," urged Mrs. DeGroot.

"Hoover is a man's candidate, head and shoulders above all the others. The present campaign will be one of historical importance; history will be made whether Hoover or Roosevelt is elected, but it will be a dark page in history if the Democratic candidate is successful."

"In 1928 everybody talked Hoover. We talked Hoover, ate Hoover and slept Hoover. We learned of Hoover's boyhood, his university career, his graduation. We knew of him as an engineer and we went into the Boxer rebellion with him. We saw him in England helping stranded Americans home and then we knew him as he fed the starving children and as secretary of commerce. We saw him along the Mississippi.

"Of course Herbert Hoover was not a perfect man but he made a splendid president of the United States. Today his brain is as keen, his mind as broad, his heart as big and his feet and hands as willing and ready.

"We are told not to swap horses in the middle of a stream. Herbert Hoover is not a perfect man as there has been but one on this earth. So Herbert Hoover could not be a perfect president."

"Franklin D. Roosevelt will not stay put. He changed his mind too frequently. What big thing has he ever done? Roosevelt criticizes Hoover but he does not suggest anything better. The American working man does not want the dole; he wants work."

"Herbert Hoover is not afraid. He speaks plainly even if it loses him votes."

Then urging upon the Republican workers to return Hoover to the White House Mrs. DeGroot said: "But whatever you do don't return Hoover without Watson because it will be like tying his hands."

Henry W. Watson stressed the importance of getting out the vote on election day. "If we fail to re-elect Hoover it will be because we failed to get out the vote," spoke the congressman.

"During the last 18 years that I have been in Congress I have learned to know that it has been the policy of the Democratic party to break down the financial structure of the Government."

"President Hoover is not to blame for the depression," said Watson. "It has been throughout the entire world. Great Britain has just held a conference at Ottawa in an effort to increase trade among her possessions."

"Wilson left 27 billions of debt," said the speaker. "And in 19 years the Republicans had paid off nine billions of it."

"The Democrats talk economy and they preach economy but vote for big appropriations to satisfy the people of the south and west."

"If you want prosperity in this country stand back of Mr. Hoover," concluded the congressman.

Auditor General Charles A. Waters spoke particularly on the financial condition of the State and said the depression will prove a blessing in disguise if the average citizen will continue to take the same amount of interest which he is now showing in governmental affairs.

"Mr. Average Citizen must realize that government is his business just as much in good times as in poor times," he declared.

Mr. Waters then gave a comprehensive summary of the increased debt.

122ND ANNIVERSARY OF BENSALEM M. E. MARKED

Superintendent, North District, "Glad of the Signs of Victory"

THREE SERVICES HELD

BENSALEM TOWNSHIP, Sept. 26.—Three services of worship, with special speakers and music by the Melody Trumpeters of Norristown, were conducted at Bensalem M. E. Church, here, yesterday, in observance of the 122nd anniversary of the church.

The Rev. A. M. Witter, D. D., superintendent of the North District of the Philadelphia M. E. Conference, occupied the pulpit during the afternoon service and delivered a sermon that proved an inspiration to the members and friends of the congregation attending.

Dr. Witter told of the joy in the fact that "Old Bensalem continues to radiate glad tidings along the Highway of Life. I'm glad of the signs of victory in the work you are carrying on for Him." The north district superintendent spoke of "those in years gone by who were touched by the Spirit of God and transformed, upholding the Word of Life."

"The lives of those men and women, faithful and true to the Gospel were not lived in vain. Are we going to be as true and courageous as those who have gone, who had but one passion—to live lives that were blameless, and spread the Gospel of his love? We look back and rejoice in the records of the past, and hope that in the coming days all may be true as we hold forth the Word of Life in this community."

At the afternoon meeting the choir of Neshaminy M. E. Church, Humesville, rendered an anthem, and the pastor of this neighboring congregation, the Rev. T. W. Smith, offered the prayer. A vocal solo by Harry Bunting, Bristol, was also a feature.

The morning congregation was addressed by the Rev. W. S. Johnston, a former pastor here, now serving at Chestnut Hill. The scripture lesson was given by the Rev. Howard W. Adams, now pastor at Bensalem; and the choir of the local church sang "Fear Not Ye, O Israel."

Dr. Harry C. Leonard, superintendent of the Department of Church Extension, gave the sermon last evening. The Rev. Leslie H. Kiefer, pastor of Cornwells M. E. Church, made the prayer, and Bensalem choir sang.

The selections by the four Trumpeters throughout the three services were well-chosen numbers, and much enjoyed.

In connection with the anniversary week-end, the chicken-waffle supper, bazaar and play Saturday afternoon and evening were pronounced successes.

Clubs Not Permitted To Have Liquor

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 26.—In order to destroy the idea prevalent among clubs that it is not unlawful to have liquor in a club house, Judge Calvin S. Boyer on Friday afternoon sentenced two Elkins Park men, charged with possessing intoxicating liquor in a clubhouse near Trevoise, to pay a fine of $100, pay the costs of prosecution and placed them on probation for a year.

The defendants, Gordon Smith, 24, and Caleb Fink, 30, both of whom pleaded guilty, were arrested when officers of the Morrisville State Police and County Detective Russo raided the premises of the Ace High Club on Saturday, August 13.

A search made by the officers revealed 80 quarts, and 175 pints of home brew.

"I can't understand why so many people have the idea that a club cannot be prosecuted for disobeying the law. Then, too, if such clubs exist, and their reputation soon grows, police officials are looked at askance because the public is ready to believe 'political pull or a drag' permits them to operate."

Raid Cider Mill And Hold Proprietor in Jail

A cider mill on the Hulmeville Road, between the old Lincoln Highway and the present Lincoln Highway, was raided Saturday. The raid was made by County Detective Russo and State Police from Morrisville.

The alleged proprietor, William Zimmerman, was taken into custody charged with operating a cider mill without a permit. He was given a hearing before Justice of Peace Joseph Keating, South Langhorne, and held in $1,000 bail for court.

Racer Injured Saturday Receives Treatment Here

While entering in one of the trial races at Langhorne Speedway Saturday afternoon, Kenneth Douglas, 264 W. 69th street, New York City, was injured when the rear of his machine swung into the guard rail, the car overturning three times.

Douglas was treated at Harriman Hospital for brush burns of the chest and neck, and injuries to the upper portion of his right arm. He had not regained consciousness when admitted to the institution here, but had made some progress by yesterday that he returned to his home.

BENSALEM STUDENTS COMPETE IN SPORTS

Participate in Events at Harvest Festival at Eddington

SPONSORED BY TURNERS

EDDINGTON, Sept. 26.—Students of Bensalem Township High School and grade schools Saturday afternoon competed in track and field events at the seventh annual harvest festival under the auspices of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde. The events were witnessed by parents and visitors who milled about the spacious grounds here.

A baseball game between the Turners and Croydon ended in favor of the former by the score of 8 to 7. The game proved to be full of interest and the winner was in doubt up to the very end.

There were but few exhibits in the agricultural show and honors were awarded by the following:

Irish cobbler, panslips, carrots and beets, William Stoker, Red Lion Road, Ryberry; Irish cobbler in baskets, St. Francis Industrial School, Eddington.

Deputy State Secretary of Agriculture, W. S. Hagar, Harrisburg, visited the festival and viewed the exhibits along with Bucks County Farm Agent W. S. Greenawald.

The athletic events by students of the Bensalem Township schools resulted as follows:

100 yard dash, boys, senior high school—First, Fisher; second, Edelman; third, Hughes. Time, 10 3-10 seconds.

75 yard dash, girls, senior high school—First, Smith; second, Lathrop; third, Bolaz. Time, 10 3-10 seconds.

50 yard dash for older girls—First, McElwee; second, Hodges; third, Hill. Time 8 2-10 seconds.

50 yard dash for younger girls—First, Meyers; second, McCall; third, Silwa. Time 9 8-10 seconds.

60 yard dash for older boys—First, Hill; second, Teitelman, third, Laster. Time 9 9-10 seconds.

60-yard dash, boys of Eddington and Penn Valley schools—First, Davis; second, Hill; third, Fettes. Time 8 2-10.

50-yard dash girls of junior high school—First, Edelman; second, Vornholt; third, Hunter. Time 10 seconds.

Girls' basketball throw, junior high school—First, Laster; second, Vornholt; third, Smith. Distance, 60 feet.

THREE MEMORIAL GIFTS DEDICATED, ST. JAMES'S

Bishop Francis M. Taitt Also Delivers Sermon at The Service

220 YEARS OF SERVICE

Three memorial gifts, presented to St. James's P. E. Church, were dedicated by the Rt. Rev. Francis M. Taitt, bishop of the diocese of Philadelphia, when the 220th anniversary of the church was marked yesterday morning.

The gifts included: A lamp at the entrance of the edifice, the gift of Mrs. Sarah M. Tomlinson in memory of her parents, the late William and Anna Larzelere; two silver offering plates, gifts of Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Spring and Miss Gertrude Spring, in memory of their son and brother, the late George Pierson Spring; and a bowl for the baptismal font, given by Miss Anna Hawkes, in memory of the late Mr. Spring.

Bishop Taitt, who was presented by the rector, the Rev. George E. Boswell, delivered the sermon and gave a brief history of the Episcopal Church. Bishop Taitt stated that he first attended an Episcopal Church in Burlington, adding that he has been accustomed to being affiliated with old churches. Later he attended Christ Church, Philadelphia, and was rector at a church in Chester for 30 years. These have all seen over two centuries of service.

The difficulties of the early clergymen were referred to, Bishop Taitt telling of the dangers of the seas confronting the early missionary preachers coming to these shores.

The Rev. Boswell read the preliminary lessons and offered a prayer. A vocal offertory was given by Mrs. David Neill.

WILLIAMS TO APPEAL

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—Harold E. Williams, twice convicted and twice sentenced to die for the murder of his brother-in-law, William F. Prophet, is to make another attempt today to save himself from the electric chair.

Through his attorney, Samuel Moyerman, he will argue for a third trial before the State Supreme Court sitting at Pittsburgh.

His appeal is said to be based on 105 alleged points of error in his second trial.

Assistant District Attorneys Corran and Shelton will oppose the appeal. Corran conducted the State's case in Williams' second trial.

DEER WRECKS MACHINE

(By "The Stroller")

Two Bristol men had a narrow escape from serious injury late Friday night when a large ten-point deer crashed into the side of their car while driving through the Pines in New Jersey.

Lesley ("Unc") Weed and Harold Watson, of the Weed Chevrolet Company, Farragut avenue, with a party of friends were on their way for a fishing trip, when suddenly on the Tom's River Road, they encountered the deer. Becoming confused by the headlights the frightened animal charged into the side of the machine, killing itself instantly.

The men in the machine were shaken-up, but none of them injured. The automobile was considerably damaged, and had to be towed back to Bristol.

DECISION REVERSED

Pittsburgh, Sept. 26.—State Supreme Court today reversed the lower court of Delaware County and held that the estate of the late Dr. John T. Dorrance, head of the Campbell Soup Company, of Radnor, Pa., owes the state about $21,000,000 in inheritance taxes. Dr. Dorrance resided in Cinnaminson, N. J., and claimed his residence was in New Jersey, instead of Pennsylvania. This contention advanced by his estate was upheld by the Delaware County Court, but the higher court today reversed it.

MRS. BORAH WORSE

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 26.—Mrs. M. Borah, wife of United States Senator William E. Borah, today lost ground slightly in her battle against pottacosis or "parrot fever." Her heart action which became normal Saturday afternoon after the injection of a special serum, weakened again last night and the "toxic action" was again evident, according to her physician.

GANDHI QUITS FAST

Poona, India, Sept. 26.—The dramatic "fast unto death" undertaken by Mahatma M. K. Gandhi in behalf of India's "forgotten men"—her sixty million "untouchables"—came to an end this afternoon, one hour and fifteen minutes after Gandhi was informed the British and India governments had approved settlement of the Hindu problem. The Mahatma raised his head from his hard cot under a mango tree in the courtyard of the Yerabhai hall and called for nourishment. A glass containing two ounces of orange juice was handed to him by the superintendent of the jail. This was the first nourishment of any sort he has taken in more than 145 hours. Only a few persons, in addition to the superintendent of the jail and Gandhi's physician, were present.

At noon he was informed that Britain had accepted the agreement granting joint political representatives to the Hindu. For one hour and fifteen minutes he lay on his cot immovable and silent. Then he called for food and a sudden bustle of activity inside the jail recalled Gandhi's decision to go on living to fight for the countless starving millions he moves.

TO HEAR HIGHWAY PETITIONERS FRIDAY

Judge Keller Will Then Decide Upon Granting Injunction

FILE BILL IN EQUITY

Judge Hiram Keller today fixed Friday as the day on which he will hear evidence of those who have petitioned the court to grant a permanent injunction against the construction of the proposed new highway through Bensalem Township. The bill in equity was filed Saturday and Judge Keller today fixed Friday as the day for hearing the evidence.

The bill asks a permanent injunction against that section of the highway extending to Janney Station.

The injunction petition was filed by Webster Achey, of Doylestown, and James A. Walker, of Philadelphia, on behalf of George T. Downes and William H. Ridge, of Upper Bensalem Township. With the filing of the court action, a petition favoring the widening of the Lincoln Highway and signed by more than 1,000 Bucks County residents, was placed in the hands of the Bucks County Commissioners.

Downes and Ridge, who own property on the Lincoln Highway, are basing their fight on the financial burden which will fall on Bucks County should the new road be built. The proposed highway, 12 miles long, will run from the Roosevelt Boulevard to a point above Yardley where it will join the super-highway across New Jersey. Half the construction cost is to be born by the Federal Government and the remaining 50 per cent by the State of Pennsylvania. Bucks County will be obliged to settle for property damages.

Widening of the Lincoln Highway is the only logical plan for the State Highway Department to follow, it was said. There will be practically no property damage as owners along the highway have agreed to donate land free for the purpose.

Township and borough authorities from the Philadelphia city line to Morrisville have lined up solidly behind the widening plan.

The Union Paving Company, of Philadelphia, has been awarded the contract for the first unit of the new road and construction is expected to start this week. The contract, totaling $345,679.53, also covers the cost of erecting a new concrete bridge over the Neshaminy Creek. The work is to be finished in 145 days.

OTHER COURT CASES

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 26.—Time of a jury and the entire court was taken up Friday afternoon for a brief interval with the trial of a simple assault and battery case growing out of an altercation over a dead guinea hen that was picked up along a highway and taken away by a motorist who passed by.

Walter S. Farley, Buckingham township farmer, living near Buckingham, was the defendant. The jury acquitted him but directed that he pay the costs. The prosecutor in the case was Otto B. Doetterlein, 32, Lambertville butter and egg man.

Doetterlein testified that he had attended the egg auction in Doylestown on the afternoon of May 2, and was on his way home when east of Buckingham near the Farley farm, he noticed an object lying in the highway. At first he thought it was a chicken, but after turning out to avoid hitting it he stopped the car, got out and saw that it was a dead guinea hen. Doetterlein said that he put the guinea in his truck and started to drive home. When he reached Canada Hill over two miles away, Doetterlein said, a car rushed by him and pulled in front of his truck, forcing him into the side of the road as the car stopped. He said that Farley jumped out of the car and said to him, "Is that the way you make a living," and that he then struck him several times with his fist, breaking his nose and knocking him across the highway a distance of 18 feet.

Doetterlein testified that he did not run over the guinea and that he did not kill it, but that it was dead when he passed by. Under cross-examination, Doetterlein stated that he did not hear anybody call to him as he picked up the guinea. He also stated that Farley did not ask him for the guinea when he caught up to him at Canada Hill.

Farley, in his own defense, testified that he was working in his front yard with his employee, Charlie Armstrong, colored, when Armstrong called his attention to the fact that a car had run over one of his guinea. Farley said that he looked out in the highway and saw Doetterlein pick up the guinea and start for the truck. Farley said that he yelled at Doetterlein loud enough to be heard a quarter of a mile away, but Doetterlein did not stop. He said that he then got into his own car and chased Doetterlein. Farley testified that Doetterlein hit the first blow and that after that he (Farley) was simply protecting himself.

Charlie Armstrong testified that he saw the guinea hen in question walk out on the highway and that he saw the Doetterlein car strike the guinea and kill it.

Mrs. Martha Harris, gasoline station proprietor living nearby the scene of the guinea's death, testified for the defendant that she heard him yell 400 feet away.

Colonel George vanOrden, retired marine officer; Lyons Smith, well-known farmer, and Leonard Hampton, all of the Buckingham and New Hope section, were character witnesses for Farley, whom they described as a peaceful and law-abiding citizen.

"But as a matter of fact you will admit, Mr. Farley, that you have quite a temper, won't you?" Assistant District Attorney Biester asked the defendant.

"No, I don't know that I have, I have a temper, of course, but nothing unusual."

Because he was the sole support of his family and the only one able to go out and "earn a dime here and there," a 20-year-old Bristol youth escaped a prison sentence.

TWO MEN KILLED BY AUTOMOBILES NEAR FALLSINGTON

One Victim Not Identified Until Yesterday By Relatives

HEADLIGHTS BLAMED

Trenton Man Was Walking To Inspect Lots He Had Purchased

Two men met death during the week-end due to automobile accidents on the Lincoln Highway, one of the most heavily traveled roads in the East.

The body of one of the men was identified as that of Charles Nagy, 64, Trenton, N. J. The other victim was William Semyard, 40, Philadelphia. Semyard died in a Trenton hospital. Both men were run down on the Lincoln Highway between Fallsington and South Langhorne.

Nagy, a tailor, residing at 902 South Clinton avenue, Trenton, was instantly killed when he was struck by a car operated by William Chambers, 24, of 18 Lynwood Terrace, Caldwell, N. J. He received a fracture of the skull.

Semyard, who lived at 703 East Hill street, Philadelphia, was killed by a machine driven by Charles C. Jackson, 21, of 302 Grand avenue, Trenton. The driver explained to the police that his car struck the victim as he was blinded by approaching headlights as he swung his car around a slight curve. Semyard also suffered a fractured skull and succumbed at Mercer Hospital at 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

Although Nagy was struck by Chambers' machine shortly after dark on Saturday, he was not identified until yesterday. Relatives of the dead man grew concerned over the man's absence late Saturday night, and asked police to investigate. They said that Nagy had left his home to walk to some lots he owns just beyond Fallsington.

Chambers was arrested by Highway Patrolmen Hohlfelder and Coughlin following the tragedy and held in $2,000 bail to await the outcome of a coroner's inquest.

While awaiting identification by relatives, the body of Nagy was held at a morgue. Deputy Coroner W. Furman Young, of Bristol, viewed the body.

Nagy, who was well known in Hungarian circles, is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Chiora and Mrs. Julius Veres; nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

PRACTICAL "RELIEF"

A fact recognized by the administration and Congress from the beginning of the depression is that public expenditure has its part and a very important one in leading the nation back to prosperity. It is not enough it itself but it helps materially.

Authorization by the administration of $200,000,000 more of public works will create jobs, increase purchasing power, assist industry supplying materials for the work and stimulate general business. And these are the things that promote prosperity.

This new program increases to $750,000,000 the Federal funds to be spent during the present fiscal year for unemployment-relief construction, and brings to $2,300,000,000 the total cost of Federal public works since the beginning of the depression. This is more than double the normal federal expenditure on such work.

Here is refutation of the complaint that the administration has not recognized the importance of public construction when private construction is at a standstill, a charge heard chiefly in quarters which have advocated unsuccessfully costly public works without a utilitarian value and affording relatively little relief for the jobless.

Informed persons are satisfied that Washington has done the best it could under the circumstances. Only a miracle worker could in one fell swoop balance the budget, provide the last dollar needed for public construction and unemployment relief, and avoid pork-barrel legislation in every form.

TREATY WITH HAITI

Haiti and all Latin America now have convincing proof of the sincerity of the United States in its professed purpose to avoid any sort of policy in the Caribbean or elsewhere that might be charged, however unjustly, with savoring of imperialism. This proof is contained in the treaty between the United States and Haiti which has just been submitted to the Haitian congress for ratification.

This pact sets a definite time for the withdrawal of American marine officers from the Haitian national guard, pledges the speediest possible removal of the marine force from Port au Prince, allows for an American military mission to train the native national guard and gives the president of the United States the power to nominate a fiscal representative to supervise customs collections and allocation of receipts until complete amortization of Haiti's foreign loans, secured on national revenue.

Here is further evidence that Washington has ever worked for the advantage of the island and in every way has endeavored not to encroach upon and to scrupulously respect its sovereignty. The unusual intervention of 1915 was justified and has worked out to the advantage of the little island republic, though at the time Washington's action may have seemed arrogant imperialism.

Amicable and mutually beneficial relations between the United States and Haiti are in prospect should the program outlined by the Forbes commission be carried out.

Daphne by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

DAPHNE HAINES, seventeen and lovely, is literally driven from home by her nagging stepmother, whose sole interest is in her own daughter, Crystal. The second Mrs. Haines is determined that Crystal shall marry Ralph McKevitt, a handsome young man of wealth. Ralph, one day admires Daphne, whom he sees at a distance, and Mrs. Haines decides to permanently eliminate the younger girl, whose rivalry she secretly fears. She provokes a sordid quarrel in the household, and Daphne, realizing the helplessness of her position, leaves home to make her way in San Francisco. The quest for employment, her stepmother's "prize" young man, in a cheap restaurant. He buys her a hearty meal and takes her home in his car. As weeks pass a nice friendship develops between them. Ralph secures a good position for the girl, and when he kisses her in the moonlight she feels she is in an earthly Paradise. The motley assortment of roomers at Daphne's house speculate "wisely" about her each time young McKevitt calls in his flashy car, but she finds two good friends in hard-boiled Flora McCordle and a love-starved little dressmaker called "Miss Viola." Back in the Haines home Crystal announces that she too is leaving for the city where she intends studying music. Her mother implores her not to leave, but she is determined to go. All the way on the bus to San Francisco her thoughts are strangely of Daphne. Crystal spends her first evening in the city with Avery Woodward, a dreamy Bohemian, always broke, who promises to teach her the ways of art and life and love.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVIII.

"I'll give you a ring before Monday," Ralph had said, but Sunday dragged to a funeral close without a word from him, and though Daphne was ready and waiting Monday evening, he did not come.

Tuesday passed, and Wednesday. "The days are getting shorter," Miss Viola complained, grudgingly lighting the gas in the hall right after supper. But days had never seemed so long to Daphne.

Flora McCordle dashed giggling down the stairs every night with a different "gentleman friend" and old Mrs. Hinkle peeked through her crack in the kitchen door and grumbled, "Out again! Ach, I don't know, aber when I was young we didn't run wild!" Once she pinched Daphne's cheek with her dark, workworn hand. "Dot's a good girl, not always mit boys... like my Viola, good, too..."

Like Viola. "Oh!" Daphne rushed to her room, to throw herself wildly on the faded red couch and bury her head under the musty sofa cushions and cry in peace. To think that anyone, even old Mrs. Hinkle, could believe that she wanted to stay home night after night in this ghastly place... to think that nobody wanted her and she'd go on waiting and waiting forever... like Miss Viola.

But the tears of yesterday always gave place to the hopes of today. "He'll surely phone tonight... he's a busy man, I can't expect him to call me every night."

And every night, long before 7 o'clock, she put on her best blue dress and her chiffon stockings "just in case." She waited feverishly in her room, moving restlessly from the squeaky rocker to the dresser to add a last minute dab of powder, and back to the rocker, and over to the window nervous... listening!

Listening for the telephone waiting for him to come.

Brrr Before the first vibration had ceased she would be at the telephone in the hall, pulling the receiver off the hook.

"Hello!" Her voice shaking a little, her face all glowing and starry with hope.

But it was always for somebody else.

And every time she saw Flora wrapped in the rich summer ermine coat she thought, "If I had a coat like that he'd take me out. I—I don't blame him. He was—ashamed of me."

The more she thought of it, the sorer she was that the old blue coat was to blame. She would hold it up and look at its shiny, shapeless sides. Would any self-respecting man want to go out with a coat like that? And that hateful last night... her cheeks burned again at the thought of going without a coat in the wind and the fog. He must have seen the gooseflesh on her arms... must have felt her shivering. She gouted angrily. "He must have thought I was c-crazy!"

She thought of the credit shops. But suppose something happened. Suppose she got sick, or lost her job before her purchases were paid for? And the ten dollars not yet paid back to Ralph...

She would figure surreptitiously in the office when she should have been typing. Three yards of material at $2.50, and $4.00 a day for Miss Viola to make it. It would take her two days at least, maybe two and a half. And lining and buttons besides... oh dear...

Perhaps a sale coat would be better after all. If you paid $10 down and $1.00 a week for ten weeks.

The work would pile up while she would figure and plan and dream.

"Well, I gotta get rid of Miss Haines, that's all," Miss Abrams, the girl in charge of the office, said, "she gets worse all the time. Too bad, too, because she's a good typist."

Daphne found the notice on her desk the next morning. It was brief and business like. Her services would not be required after the first of September.

Kind, courteous and final. No explanation as to why they no longer required her services. No second chance.

Now I have something to worry about!" she thought miserably, tossing on the lumpy couch that night, but not even losing the job seemed as important as losing Ralph.

Even getting out of the house at night didn't help. No sooner would she get three blocks away than she would have a terrible feeling that he was calling, and ran all the way home, only to find out that no one had called at all.

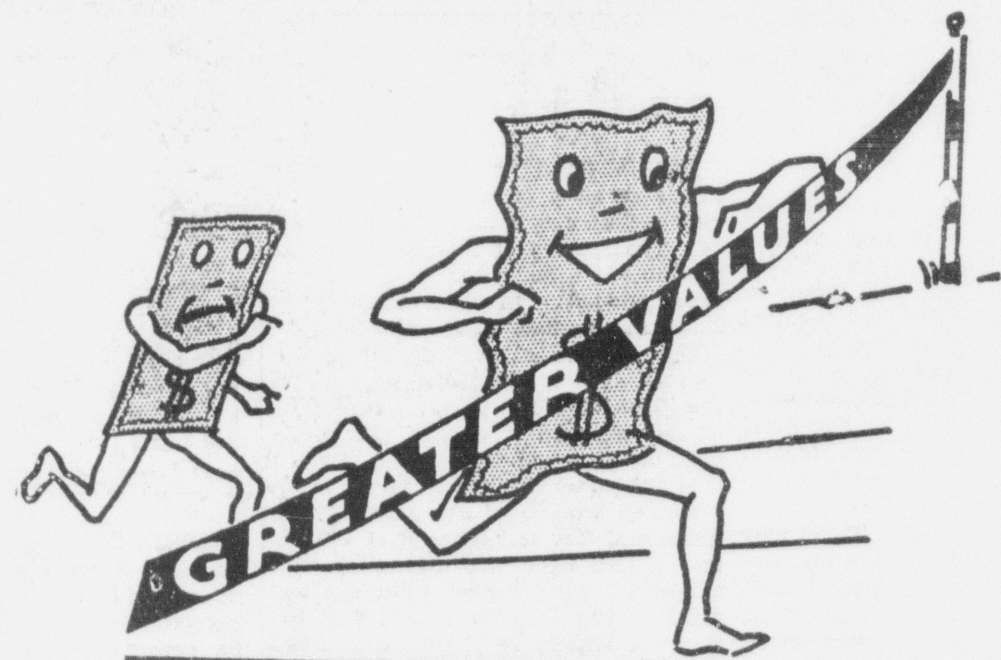

Sometimes Miss Viola insisted on accompanying her on the short walks that she wanted so much to be solitary. Poor Miss Viola, hurrying along on her fat feet, holding tight to Daphne's arm, puffing a little as she talked.

But Sunday was the worst. Everybody, even the Hinkles, went out. Mrs. Spellman and Mrs. Halliday, the married ladies who wore kimono until five o'clock on other days, emerged from their flannellette cocoons like middle-aged butterflies. Dressy and perspiring, ready for an afternoon at the movies with their freshly shaved and brushed husbands.

BIG MUFFS LEAD THE FASHION PARADE IN SALONS OF PARIS

Coming In for Big Innings During This Coming Winter

By Alice Langellier
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS — (INS) — The old muff is coming in for big innings in the new season by accompanying luxurious fashion accessories which can be most pleasing in contrast with the ultra-severe trend of the classic ensemble.

It will not, however, be the discreet little barrel-shaped article in which only the tips of the fingers can be tucked, but immense square muffs of fur, or fur and velvet arranged alternately.

Nearly all of the newest muffs are as big as a huge bed pillow and very flat. Worth is showing a smaller one in a flat round shape, but the fur cuffs on the new coats are going to be so important that they will not permit a small-sized muff. An amusing brown astrakhan muff combined with twisted cloth resembles a huge mushroom.

One of the smartest fur fashions this autumn promises to be skunk, an interesting revival after a long period of absence. One designer is using it on an afternoon gown of one of the new ribbed fabrics. It is manipulated in spiral form for a necktie ending in tabs of the hyacinth-blue jerseyell. The matching muff is half-striped with blue and half with the fur. This shade of blue, by the way, is replacing black at many of the smart couturiers this year.

Short scarves of fur will be worn again.

The shorter cape of fur is generally arranged in tiers. One in velvet comes edged with dark brown fox and another in black and white velvet has five tiers of silver fox which always seems to have its place in fashion. The newest whim seems to be rather pale fox.

The new ribbon velours ruches and those of feathers mounted on tulle will be favorites for winter evening wear. They are attached by huge silver or diamante clips and can be worn either with the frock or with the accompanying coat.

HAGERSTOWN, MD. — (INS) — Ten-year-old Eak Wong, the first Chinese child to enter public school here, made the long trip alone from Hai Sun, Canton Province, to Chicago, where he was met by his older brother, John Wong, who brought him to his father, Wong June, this city.

The older boy attended public schools in Baltimore for some years. Both boys are regular attendants at a Methodist Sunday School.

GRECIAN NIGHTIES ARE LATEST FAD IN THE FASHION WORLD

By Alice Langellier
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS. — Newest nighties have gone Grecian and modern maids will have the silhouette of some of the lovely old statues on coming winter nights.

Some are cut on the bias and cling snugly to the body. Others are full and wind round the skirt from a short and well-fitted bodice twisted at the belt and draped.

Fur, which is coming in for its touch on nearly everything wintry, is even to be seen as trim on some of these new nighties. One in heavy Zangara crepe of shell-pink tone has a little side train bordered in nutria and a small triangle of the same fur binding the overblouse.

Exquisitely sheer turco in pale flesh

Tweed and Beaver

Straight from Hollywood comes this ultra-smart ensemble for Fall and early Winter. Bette Davis, screen actress, is wearing a suit of brown tweed with lei collar and patch pockets of beaver. Her hat is of brown transparent knit velvet, edged with petals of brown and green felt.

tone falls in beautiful Grecian draperies on another nightie, this one bordered with finest lace and the bodice entirely made of it.

Negligees sometimes have a very tailored touch. Helene Yrlande is showing one in green Scotch plaid taffeta and another in wine-colored velvet tea-gown trimmed with real Brussels lace. A very wide circular drape of the lace falls from the shoulder line in back and trails to the floor, and there is a large corsage of orchids at the shoulder.

A pale blue velvet negligee is high-waisted and has the long sleeves out-collared, tucked in at the belt to give a lined to make a stand-up ruffle at the armhole. Another in pink sealy satin has a plain satin bodice and shawl collar, tucked in at the belt to give a bolero effect.

Time Is Running Short But Opportunities Are Wonderful

THE CHINA AND GLASSWARE SALE

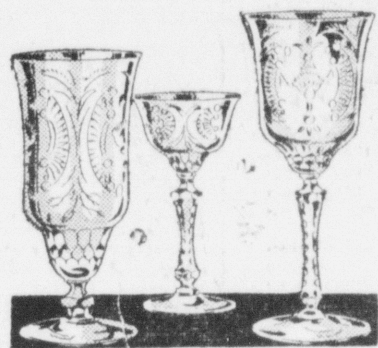

Sparkles with Good Things

Whole pages might be given over to the beauty, the artistry, the charm and novelty of this wonderful exhibition of china, glass and artwares. The most important fact to keep in mind now is that the opportunity to choose from this magnificent assemblage at September Sale prices is running short.

In this sale china is lower-priced than it has been in probably twenty years. The same is true of glassware, pottery and artwares. Now is the time to buy. Selections are still ample. Opportunities are many and brilliant.

You still can choose from thousands of dinner sets—hundreds of thousands of pieces of crystal and glassware
—and other thousands of pieces of pottery and artware

—all at September Sale prices, but September and its opportunities will soon be over.

Finest Hand-Cut Crystal, $12 a Dozen

Generally known as "Rock Crystal" because of its wonderful, hard, clear, dazzling brilliance. Hand-cut in rock crystal designs of unusual beauty. Goblets, tall and low footed sherbets, nine and 12-ounce footed tumblers, finger bowls and other wanted pieces, at close to half price.

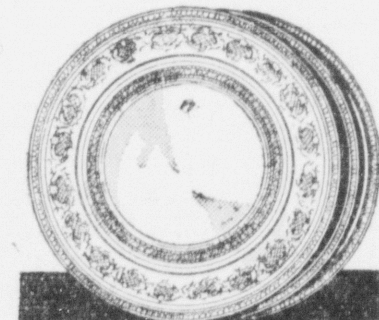

Hand-Cut Crystal Stemware, 25c a Piece, $3 a Dozen

Clear crystal, beautifully cut in a silver-gray finish. Goblets, tall and low sherbets, five, nine and 12-ounce footed tumblers, finger bowls and dessert plates,

"Black Knight" Dinner Sets, $42.50

Not so long ago these splendid sets sold for twice as much. They are among the finest dinner services made. The ware is of a rich ivory tone, in two exquisite decorations—chrysanthemum and wild rose. Each a complete service (including cream soups) for twelve persons.

Exquisite Service Plates . . . $3 Each

Of very fine china. Imported from a famous European pottery and decorated by American artists. Rich, lovely gold lace motifs and gold encrustations, with ivory-tone shoulders and colored bands in maroon, green or black. This is the first time we have known plates of such beautiful quality to be priced below $5 each.

LAMPS

IT'S A GREAT TIME TO BUY LAMPS

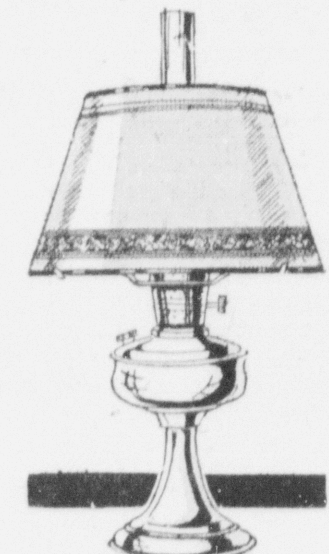

At Wanamaker's

And seemingly the people realize it. In all the years that we have been selling lamps we have never known of such wonderful values as you will find in our September Sale. In many instances you can buy a lamp complete with shade for what the shade used to cost not so long ago. Illustrated are some of the unusual values. Of course there are hundreds and hundreds of others. Unquestionably it's a great time to buy lamps—at Wanamaker's, but the time is running short. The sale ends with September.

Pottery Table Lamp $7.85 With Silk Shade

Base is Roseville pottery in a refreshingly soft green with green-stalked, golden-headed chrysanthemums in low relief. Metal base is handsomely finished in 22-Karat gold. Silk shades in green or gold show pretty floral and foliage designs in applique.

"Aladdin" Kerosene Lamps . . . $5.75 to $9

Thousands of homes find "Aladdin" lamps very satisfactory and very economical. More and more homes are using them. "Aladdin" lamps give a clear, soft, white light agreeable to the eyes and equal to a 100-watt electric bulb. They generate their own gas, are easy to operate and safe to use.

FOURTH FLOOR—CHESTNUT

Floor Lamp $3.50 Complete with Shade

Right—Standard of solid brass in bronze finish. Base of heavy cast-metal. Equipped for three lights. Complete with embroidered celanese shade in gold, green or rust.

Solid Brass Candlesticks, $1.75, $2 and $3

Above—Five-branch. Made in China. Hand-finished and practically everlasting. For living room, studio, or den. For a mantel. Candlesticks never go out of fashion, especially good ones like these.

THE SALE OF HOUSEWARES

HOUSEWARES is probably the most comprehensive word in the language. It embraces literally millions of things from carpet tacks to electrical refrigerators; from scrubbing brushes to washing machines; from chamois cloths to kitchen cabinets; from mousetraps to sewing machines; from bird cages to andirons; from clothes hampers to pots and kettles; from—but why go on? The point is that all of these household helps, standbys and appliances and hundreds and hundreds of others are offered at reduced prices in the September Sale, a famous event at Wanamaker's. A glance at the calendar will show you how many, rather how few, September days remain. We would suggest that you take stock of your household equipments and come to the Wanamaker Sale right away for all the things you need. We believe it will pay you well to put in a supply at the low prices now prevailing.

HOLLAND BULBS HAVE ARRIVED

Plant them now and see them bloom in the springtime. Remember the good old cheerful saying—"Fall planting, Spring blooming". Here are many varieties of bulbs—hyacinth, tulip, crocus, scilla, snowdrop, Muscari and Chinodoxia—the largest, finest and healthiest we've ever had. And little to pay for things that will give so much joy to the eye and to the heart.

Hyacinth 10c each, $1.10 a dozen; $8.75 a hundred
Tulip 5c each; 50c a dozen $4 a hundred

Crocus 25c a dozen $2 a hundred
Scilla, Snowdrop, Muscari, 35c a dozen; $2.50 a hundred

DIGEST POLL SHOWS

HOOVER IN LEAD

Roosevelt Indicated Getting Many Republican Votes

WHAT RETURNS SHOW

Hoover is ahead of Roosevelt by a small margin in the first scattering returns of The Literary Digest's 20,000,000-ballot nationwide "straw" Presidential poll, which is said to be the largest unofficial referendum of its kind ever conducted.

Of the 60,327 ballots returned Hoover has 28,193 votes and Roosevelt 27,654, making a percentage of 46.73 of the total for the Republican candidate as against 45.84 for the Democratic leader. The other 7.43 per cent of the ballots are cast for the five minor candidates with Norman Thomas leading these.

Of the five States reported in this initial return Hoover is shown leading in Indiana and New York. Roosevelt is ahead in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

An analysis of "how the same voters voted in 1928" shows that Roosevelt is receiving 39.51 per cent of his strength in these first returns from those who voted Republican four years ago while 44 per cent of his total balloting comes from the Democratic voters in the last Presidential election.

The same tabulation shows Hoover obtaining 81.03 per cent of his total votes from those who voted for him in 1928 with a gain of only 6.14 per cent from the Democratic ranks.

A startling local shift in party-lines is indicated in the first returns from Pennsylvania, comprising 11,221 votes, which show that 46.44 per cent of the Democratic vote in that State is coming from former Republicans while Hoover there is capturing only 4.51 per cent of the Democratic vote of four years ago. The minor candidates are getting their largest strength also, 8.88 per cent of the State's vote, in Pennsylvania.

Likewise, in New York, Roosevelt appears to be drawing heavily from the Republican ranks, gaining 36.09 per cent of his strength there from those who voted for his political rival in 1928, whereas Hoover is shown to be getting less than 7 per cent of former Democratic adherents, 81.06 per cent of those voting for him, now in New York, state they voted for him in 1928.

In none of the five States reported is Roosevelt shown obtaining less than 25 per cent of his strength from the Republican ranks, while in none of these does Hoover obtain more than 9 per cent of his votes from Democratic partisans of four years ago.

An interesting feature of the Poll shows that 15 per cent of the voters in this unofficial balloting did not cast a vote in 1928, which may be largely accounted for probably by those arriving at their majority since the last election.

A state by state tabulation, noted as far from complete and possibly not even indicative of the final voting, shows Indiana voting Hoover 1,109;

Roosevelt 907; New York: Hoover 14,933, Roosevelt 11,910; Ohio: Hoover 1,433, Roosevelt 1,441; Pennsylvania: Hoover 9,142, Roosevelt 11,221; and West Virginia: Hoover 1,576, Roosevelt 2,175.

Real Fashion Art Taught in New Clinic

Novel Course Emphasizes Importance of Co-ordination Between Clothes, Figure, Hair and Make-Up for Milady Who Desires to Keep in Tune with the Vogue.

It is not enough to have up-to-the-minute clothes and a knowledge of the models best suited to one that constitutes the well-dressed woman, according to the doctrines of the experts who recently lectured at the novel fashion clinic, sponsored by Harper's Bazaar at New York. Of prime importance to the woman who would remain in the front rank of the fashionable is the need for co-ordination between her clothes, figure, hair and make-up. The course, given at the clinic for fashion buyers, included lectures by experts in every department of the style mogul's and beautician's art. Not only were there displayed the latest fashions for milady, but there were also masters of vogue to show milady how they should be worn. Care of the hair, with methods of wearing it to the best advantage, was also carefully expounded and the important question of make-up explained by past masters of the art. Above at left is one of the lovely gowns exhibited. It is of white silver velvet, trimmed on the bias with silver fox. Note the flat diaphragm and the ultra-smart high neckline. At right, Miss Katherine Wilson, noted stage actress, is shown as she gave a few pointers in the art of how and where to apply cosmetics, using a figure head for the demonstration. The purpose of the clinic is to impart, through fashion buyers, the essentials of being well-dressed to women who live far from the style centers of New York and Paris.

At the business session of the County Committee the following were named as officers: Chairman, A. Harry Clayton, Doylestown; vice-chairman, Mrs. Ada L. Buckman, Langhorne; treasurer, William H. Satterthwaite, Doylestown; secretary, Edward B. Watson, Doylestown; assistant secretary, Miss Eleanor Worthington, Hartsville.

THIRD WARD AND WHITE ELEPHANTS OPEN SEASON

The Third Ward A. C. opened its 1932 football season on Sullivan's field yesterday afternoon, trouncing the Bristol White Elephants, 19-0.

The Warders had possession of the pigskin during most of the fray and completely outplayed their bitterest rivals of last season. The Elephants put up a stiff battle during the third period but could not cope with the winning eleven.

Coach "Petie" Court, of the victors, appeared well-satisfied with the showing of his club in their first engagement, especially the act put on by his fullback, "Jimbo" Lake, who crossed the final chalk mark three times for his team's six-pointers. On one occasion the try for the extra point was successful by W. Gosline.

McGee and Yarr played a wonderful defensive game for the losers.

Line-up:

Third Ward	White Elephants
A. Roe	Kornstedt
left end
C. Ludwig	Bell
left tackle
T. Gosline	Strien
left guard
M. Fallon	Yarr

EMILIE BLANKS HIBOES IN LAST EIGHT FRAMES

EMILIE, Sept. 26.—Before one of the largest crowds of the season, the Emilie A. A. nine defeated the Bristol Hibernians, 6-2 here, yesterday afternoon.

"Howie" Black served them up for the home club and after a shaky first inning settled down and blanked the visitors for the last eight frames. Both of the Hibernians' runs came in the first inning. Black was a trifle wilder than usual and gave out four passes. He backed this up, however, by striking out eight batters.

Gene Lawler did the twirling for the losers and again pitched in hard luck. All of the winners' runs came when the side should have been retired and all were scored when two men had already been retired.

Schoenfeld and Thompson were the stars for their respective teams.

TWO LOCALITES TRYING FOR TEAM SHOW UP WELL

Matt Hutchinson and "Socks" Seneca, two of the three local boys trying out for the Overbrook White Jackets, made a fine impression in their debut with professional football on Saturday when the White Jackets lost a close game to the Frankford Legion, 6-0.

Hutchinson worked in the backfield and made several gains through the line. On one occasion he got off with a sixty-five yard run for a touchdown but the play was recalled, the officials claiming that the Bristol boy stepped out of bounds.

Seneca worked at right tackle during three-quarters of the game and although one of the smallest players on the gridiron in the game helped to bring down the runners in many instances.

In yesterday's game at Passaic, Seneca injured his knee and will be out for two weeks. Passaic won, 19-0.

CARDINAL AND GRAY PLAYS PRACTICE GAME

By Oscar Corn

(H. S. Press Representative)

In order to really find out what kind of a team he had, Coach Dougherty had his proteges meet in a scrimmage with the strong Northeastern Catholic High eleven on Friday.

Both teams were expectant as to what each could do, as this was the first time these schools have met on the athletic field. The Catholic team had a good reputation and was ready to defend it. The Cardinal and Gray eleven were very spirited and raring to show their stuff.

It was arranged that in the first half Bristol would carry the ball for ten downs and Northeastern for five downs while in the second half they would change to Bristol five and Northeastern ten. After each had their turn the ball was brought back to the fifty-yard line.

In the first quarter, the Cardinal and Gray varsity had their hands full trying to prevent large gains. Northeastern could have scored in this quarter by a successful long pass.

The second team of both schools started this canto. Now the local boys showed some life and spirit. They gained many yards, the backs doing excellent work. The line was supreme; they broke up plays and opened up gaping holes whenever necessary.

In the second half the fight was fairly even. Both sides did very good work. The blocking was very good on both sides, and all the plays were run off smoothly.

Considering that they were greatly out-weighted, the Cardinal and Gray teams did as good as possible. The starting line-up: Brown and Smith, ends; Blanch and Orazl, guards; N-in-

Bristol Youth Escapes Drawing Jail Sentence

The youth, Charles W. Giano, a bean picker, was convicted of assaulting a former boss of his on the Starkey Farms, near Morrisville.

"You lost your temper, and I am afraid you have taken the wrong attitude," said Judge Calvin S. Boyer, who heard the case. "The penitentiary is full of men who lose their tempers and get so angry they act on the impulse of the moment."

"The next time you get into a rage wait two weeks before you attempt to do anything about it," the Judge advised Giano.

According to the evidence the youthful employee became enraged when one of the bosses on the farm attempted to discharge him after he threatened to kill and get even with him on account of a small difference.

Realizing the poverty and the deprivation that the defendant had to undergo in order to maintain his family, Judge Boyer placed the young man on probation for one year and placed the costs on the county.

Giano promised the Court he would never get into trouble again. It was his first offense.

An Edison automobile salesman, John B. Serrel, 22, who pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle after his license had been revoked, was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, and a fine of $25 and serve not less than two months nor more than two years in the County Prison.

The defendant, according to Patrolman Irvin L. Rothermel, of the State Highway Patrol, had his license revoked after his arrest for transporting liquor on another occasion.

Sternly rebuking the former automobile salesman Judge Boyer before pronouncing sentence, said: "The Court has not been favorably impressed with your conduct. One experience with the law evidently did you no good."

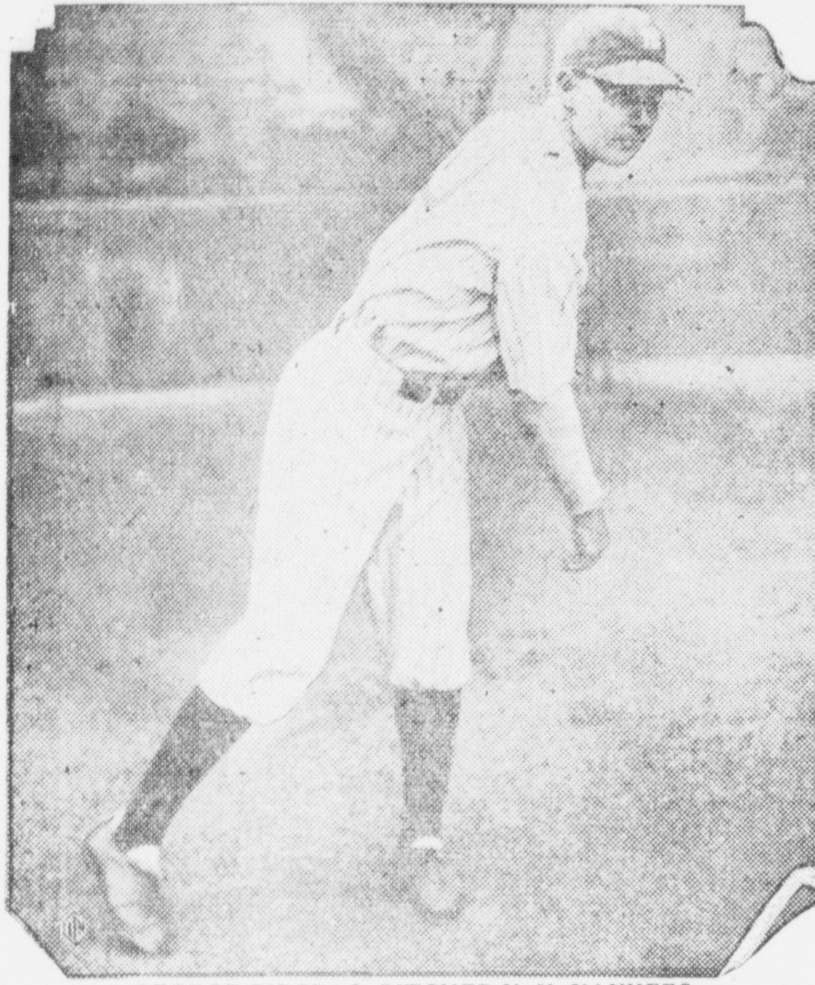

Judge Boyer reprimanded the defendant's family, who, it was testified by Patrolman Rothermel, tricked the patrolman on numerous occasions. According to patrolmen, the defendant also had a fictitious name.

HELEN HICKS--WHO FACES A TOUGH JOB IN DEFENDING HER TITLE AGAINST A STRONG FIELD!

WITH the sports pages clogged with news of the world series, which starts next Wednesday, there hasn't been much space left for advance news of the National Women's Golf Championship, which gets under way today at Salem, Mass. However, you will be reading plenty about this annual golf classic from today on.

America's best women players, and some of the stars of other lands, will tee off in quest of the national title. Pretty Helen Hicks, who romped off with the championship last year, will be facing a real test in defending her laurels. The smiling and dimpled Helen is playing the best golf of her career. She did not fare so well in the British championship of last spring, but this summer she has played brilliantly in local tournaments and showed clearly that she has finally majored in tournament play. Last year Helen played in-and-out golf in competition. At times she flashed brilliantly and at other times just so-so. But that trip abroad in quest of the British crown worked wonders and instilled a confidence which is going to make her a better and more consistent golfer.

Miss Hicks will be facing a formidable array of golfing talent. Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, five times national title holder, will be teeing off in her thirteenth national women's golf championship. Maurine Orcutt, Virginia Van Wie, Mrs. O. S. Hill, Mrs. Leona Cheney, the former Mrs. Harry Pressler, and a host of others are entered.

Mrs. Cheney, incidentally, was the only American player to survive to the quarter-finals in the recent British Women's Championship. She is one of the favorites to win this year's title. Since the invasion of England Mrs. Cheney, too, has been playing some splendid golf. Her game is probably the most compact of any of the women stars. Consistently outdriven by from twenty to forty yards Mrs. Cheney makes up this handicap by her amazing accuracy. She is always straight down the middle of the fairway and her short game is second to none. It is around the greens that Mrs. Cheney saves strokes, and in addition she is credited with being one of the headiest women players in the world. Seldom, if ever, does she make a mistake in judgment.

Well, they're teeing off today, so let's get

PROMISES TO STAR

CHARLEY (RED) RUFFING, YANKEES' PITCHER

Though this is his first world series Charley (Red) Ruffing, Yankee star pitcher, promises to be one of the sensations of the coming classic. Besides starring in the box, Ruffing is right there as a pinch hitter, being one of the best hitting pitchers in the American League.

PITCHING HOPE OF YANKEE FANS

JOHNNY ALLEN, YANKEES' PITCHER

New York fans are depending on Johnny Allen's fast ball to bring another world championship to the Yankees. Allen will be hurling in his first world series, having come up to the big leagues when purchased by the Yankees from Toronto last year.

HIS FIRST SERIES

VERNON (LEFTY) GOMEZ, YANKEES' PITCHER

Manager McCarthy is depending a lot on the good left arm of Vernon Gomez, the Yanks' young sensational southpaw, to bring home the honors in the world series. Gomez who joined the Yankees last year, is playing in his first world series.

IN FIRST SERIES

SAM BYRD, YANKEES' OUTFIELDER

Though he joined the Yanks in 1928, Byrd did not play in the world series of that year, having been farmed out to Albany. He will probably have a chance as pinch hitter in the coming series.

YANKEE YOUNGSTER

MYRIL HOAG, YANKEES' UTILITY OUTFIELDER

The vets on the Yankee team will make it difficult for the youngsters to shine in the coming world series, but Hoag hopes for a shot. If only as a pinch hitter. The Yanks bought him from Sacramento in 1930.

YANKS' CATCHING STAR

BILL DICKEY, YANKEES' CATCHER

Rated as one of the best catchers in either league, Dickey will have his opportunity to star in a world series for the first time. He joined the Yankees in 1928 and has been first string catcher since '29.

MAY BE SENSATION

BEN CHAPMAN, YANKEES' OUTFIELDER

The cash customers will have their eyes on Chapman whenever the Yanks' young outfielder gets on base. Ben leads the American League in stolen bags and will be showing in his first world series.
